

The National Alliance of Research Associates Programs

The Mission We Share

Centered in the emergency departments across the United States, the National Alliance of Research Associates Programs is a 501 (c)(3) non-profit organization facilitating large scale, national, multi-center clinical research studies to increase the quality of health care delivery in the United States, especially in the areas of screening and prevention.

Our work engages large numbers of health care students as data collectors, providing them with enhanced clinical opportunities unique to the research setting while teaching the fundamentals of interacting with patients.

Please help us in one of the following ways:

Make a donation

Your financial donation, no matter how large or small will help us enhance the knowledge and skills of future health care professionals.

Sponsor a student

Training classes, uniforms, background checks and drug testing are required of all NARAP Research Associates in hospital emergency departments. Your donation of $225 will allow a deserving student to participate.

Defray travel costs

Your donation of air and/or hotel miles allows volunteers to travel to NARAP Affiliate hospitals to conduct training, meet with health care advisors on campus at colleges and universities, and to generate awareness of our program at medical conferences.

Fund items from our Wish List

Every year donations cover daily costs from association fees, postage, software, and iPads used by students to collect data. Your generosity keeps NARAP operating. Click to view our Wish List.
